Highly professional and reliable electrical contractor provides first class service

AJ Electrical is a well established company that is renowned for its excellent reputation.

The business is headed up by proprietor Tony Lucas, who has nearly 20 years of experience in the electrical contracting industry.

At the age of 16, Tony began a five-year apprenticeship and gained experience in all aspects of electrical work.

During this time Tony (pictured) was awarded the ECA silver medal award for achieving the second highest results in the country for his apprenticeship.

Over the years he has built on this work ethic, and this is reflected in his day-to-day running of his company.

Satisfied customer Brian Heath said: "AJ Electrical was referred to me by a customer and I used Tony on a high end property maintenance project. I now use Tony exclusively on any projects requiring electrical work. As a small business proprietor, it is important to me, and my customers, that I have access to high quality, trustworthy and reliable tradesmen, and AJ Electrical more than meets these requirements."

If you are renovating a property, AJ Electrical is a specialist in full or part rewires. It is also available for commercial installations and has previously carried out work for the local authority.

Other services include upgrades and maintenance, fitting extra sockets, security lighting and security alarms plus landlord and mortgage safety inspections, along with general property health checks.

AJ Electrical is a member of the National Association of Practitioners of Inspection and Testing, and it therefore has to meet tough government guidelines when carrying out its duties.
